The Active Healthy Kids Canada Report Card on Physical Activity for Children and Youth:
Building Capacity for Use in Other Jurisdictions

Wednesday, May 5, 2010

3:00 - 5:30pm

Toronto, Ontario

Canada

For five years, the Active Healthy Kids Canada Report Card has consolidated research knowledge to drive social action for policy change. The Report Card presents knowledge in a format that can be easily accessed by media, governments, NGOs, practitioners and researchers to inform messaging, policies, programs, and research initiatives that can increase physical activity opportunities for children and youth. This session will:

- Share findings from the newly released 2010 Report Card
- Present information on the process, partnerships and management framework for the Report Card
- Include panelists who will demonstrate how the Report Card model has been replicated and modified in municipal, provincial, and international jurisdictions.

Discussion will focus on how others can also use the Report Card approach to affect change and assess progress in their communities within Canada and internationally.
